School performance summary 2018/2019

A glossary explaining terms used in this report is at the end of the printed version.

Key stage 2

This is provisional data for 2018/19. CLA data is not currently available, so we are not publishing breakdowns of data such as disadvantaged which appeared previously. This information will be included in the revised release.

Also, any amendments made to this school's data will be reflected when we re-publish the data in a few months. National and local authority benchmarks may also change. Until these changes take effect, you may see differences between data on ASP and Compare school and college performance.

Progress in reading, writing and maths

Reading

Number of pupils = 30

Pupils with adjusted scores = 1

Average -0.58

Confidence interval

Landing page

Progress score

These scores show how much progress pupils at this school made in reading, writing and maths between the end of key stage 1 and the end of key stage 2, compared to pupils across England who got similar results at the end of key stage 1.

The scores are calculated by comparing the key stage 2 test and assessment results of pupils at this school with the results of pupils in schools across England who started with similar assessment results at the end of the previous key stage - key stage 1.

In a small number of cases, pupils can have extremely negative progress scores that disproportionately affect a school's progress score. To reduce the impact of these extreme scores, we set a limit on how negative a pupil's progress score can be when calculating the school average. This will normally apply to 1 or 2 pupils if any.

Where a pupil's score is more negative than this minimum value, an adjusted score will replace the pupil's original progress score for the purpose of calculating a school's overall progress average. For further information, see the technical guidance.

In 2018/19, the new pre-key stage standards were used for the first time to report teacher assessment in reading, writing and maths for pupils working below the standard of national curriculum assessments engaged in subject-specific study. The progress methodology reflects this in the nominal points allocated for these pupils, only for the purpose of creating school level progress scores. <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/primary-school-accountability>

Confidence interval

It is difficult to say with certainty how much of the progress scores are down to the school (which may have scored higher with a different group of pupils) and how much is down to the pupils (for example some may have performed well at any school). The confidence intervals reflect this uncertainty. If the confidence intervals for 2 schools overlap, then we can't say for certain that the 2 progress scores for these schools are significantly different.

Generally speaking, the greater the number of pupils, the smaller the range of the confidence interval. For smaller schools, the confidence interval tends to be larger, since fewer pupils are included, and therefore the score will be more greatly impacted by performance of individual pupils.

A school is above average if their progress score is above 0 and the whole confidence interval is above 0. Similarly, a school is below average if their progress score is below 0 and the whole confidence interval is below 0. For more information on statistical confidence, and more detailed technical guidance in general, see: <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/primary-school-accountability>

Change in methodology

Attainment in reading, writing and maths (combined) is not directly comparable to earlier years (2016 and 2017) because of changes to the writing teacher assessment frameworks in 2017.

<https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/teacher-assessment-frameworks-at-the-end-of-key-stage-2>

Achieving the expected standard or higher

Pupils are 'meeting the expected standard' if they achieve a 'scaled score' of 100 or more in their reading and maths tests, and their teacher assesses them as 'working at the expected standard' or better in writing. For a more detailed explanation, see:

<https://www.gov.uk/guidance/scaled-scores-at-key-stage-2>

Percentage of pupils achieving the higher standard

Pupils are 'achieving at a higher standard' if they achieve a 'scaled score' of 110 or more in their reading and maths tests, and their teacher assesses them as 'working at a greater depth within the expected standard' in writing. We set this standard for the first time in 2016 to provide information about pupils across England achieving in the top 5%. For a more detailed explanation, see:

SEN EHCP

This refers to pupils with Special Educational Needs (SEN) who have learning difficulties or disabilities that make it harder for them to learn than most children of the same age. There's a formal assessment to decide if a pupil needs an education, health and care plan (EHCP).

The national comparator used in this row is the national average for all pupils.

SEN support

This is when the school gives children extra or different help from its usual curriculum. Outside specialists may advise or support the class teacher and SEN coordinator.

The national comparator used in this row is the national average for all pupils.

No SEN

Pupils with no Special Educational Needs.

The national comparator used in this row is the national average for all pupils with no SEN.

Non-mobile

Pupils who were on the school roll for the whole of years 5 and 6.

The national comparator used in this row is the national average for pupils on the school roll for the whole of years 5 and 6.

English first language

This refers to children who were initially exposed to English during early development and continue to be exposed to English in the home or in the community.

The national comparator used in this row is the national average for all pupils.

English additional language

This refers to children who were initially exposed to a non-English language during early development and continue to be exposed to this language in the home or in the community.

The national comparator used in this row is the national average for all pupils.

Scatter plots - progress

Progress score

We calculate the scores by comparing the key stage 2 test and assessment results of pupils at this school with the results of pupils in schools across England who started with similar assessment results at the end of key stage 1. See School performance tables: about the data for more information.

In a small number of cases, pupils can have extremely negative progress scores that disproportionately affect a school's overall progress score. To reduce the impact of these extreme scores, we set a limit on how negative a pupil's progress score can be when calculating the school average. This will normally apply to 1 or 2 pupils per school, if any.

Where a pupil's score is more negative than this minimum value, an adjusted score will replace the pupil's original progress score for the purpose of calculating a school's overall progress average. For further information, see the technical guidance.

In 2018/19, the new pre-key stage standards were used for the first time to report teacher assessment in reading, writing and maths for pupils working below the standard of national curriculum assessments engaged in subject-specific study. The progress methodology reflects this in the nominal points allocated for these pupils, only for the purpose of creating school level progress scores.

Three year average

Key stage 2 three year average

Three year averages cannot be calculated where there is no data available, for the school, in previous years.

Percentage of pupils achieving the expected standard for reading, writing and maths, 2017-2019

Three year averages are an important way to show how schools are performing across time, smoothing out small variations in a single year, for example, due to a small cohort size. To take into account varying pupil numbers each year, the three-year average is weighted by the size of the school's cohort in each year.

Change in methodology

Attainment in reading, writing and maths (combined) is not directly comparable to earlier years (2016 and 2017) because of changes to writing teacher assessment frameworks in 2017.

Results over 3 years

Progress score

These scores show how much progress pupils at this school made in reading, writing and maths between the end of key stage 1 and the end of key stage 2, compared to pupils across England who got similar results at the end of key stage 1.

The scores are calculated by comparing the key stage 2 test and assessment results of pupils at this school with the results of pupils in schools across England who started with similar assessment results at the end of the previous key stage - key stage 1.

In a small number of cases, pupils can have extremely negative progress scores that disproportionately affect a school's progress score. To reduce the impact of these extreme scores, we set a limit on how negative a pupil's progress score can be when calculating the school average. This will normally apply to 1 or 2 pupils if any.

The progress methodology reflects this in the nominal points allocated for these pupils, only for the purpose of creating school level progress scores. <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/primary-school-accountability>

National average

The data used for the national comparator is all state-funded schools in England.

Local authority average

The data used for this comparator is all state-funded schools in this school's local authority.

Confidence interval

It is difficult to say with certainty how much of the progress scores are down to the school (which may have scored higher with a different group of pupils) and how much is down to the pupils (for example some may have performed well at any school). The confidence intervals reflect this uncertainty. If the confidence intervals for 2 schools overlap, then we can't say for certain that the 2 progress scores for these schools are significantly different.

Generally speaking, the greater the number of pupils, the smaller the range of the confidence interval. For smaller schools, the confidence interval tends to be larger, since fewer pupils are included, and therefore the score will be more greatly impacted by performance of individual pupils.

A school is above average if their progress score is above 0 and the whole confidence interval is above 0. Similarly, a school is below average if their progress score is below 0 and the whole confidence interval is below 0. For more information on statistical confidence, and more detailed technical guidance in general, see: <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/primary-school-accountability>

Change in methodology

We introduced a change in methodology for calculating progress scores. This means 2018 and 2019 scores are not directly comparable with 2017 scores.

Percentage of pupils achieving the expected standard or higher

Pupils are 'meeting the expected standard' if they achieve a 'scaled score' of 100 or more in their reading and maths tests, and their teacher assesses them as 'working at the expected standard' or better in writing. For a more detailed explanation, see:

Percentage of pupils achieving the higher standard

Pupils are 'achieving at a higher standard' if they achieve a 'scaled score' of 110 or more in their reading and maths tests, and their teacher assesses them as 'working at a greater depth within the expected standard' in writing. We set this standard for the first time in 2016 to provide information about pupils across England achieving in the top 5%. For a more detailed explanation, see:
